

Where to Begin? Navigating Connecticut Grant Opportunities

Simply put, there are a lot of funding opportunities available right now. With historic federal investments in environmental and climate infrastructure, communities and organizations across Connecticut must quickly determine which programs are worth the time and resources needed to put together an application. This workshop aims to position attendees to take advantage of grant funding opportunities in the near-term, helping them implement priority projects. Participants will learn about the “do’s and don’ts” of a successful proposal, how to successfully engage partners and community members, and how to communicate the benefits of their project to funders. You will hear from staff from state and federal funding programs, and have the opportunity to brainstorm project ideas with program staff one-on-one. Lastly, you will have the option to attend in-person site visit(s) to see successfully funded projects first-hand.

Register Now!

March
27
2023

9:30 AM - 1:00 PM

Central Connecticut Exact Location TBD

Connecticut Grant Funding Workshop

Navigating conservation funding opportunities available to Connecticut communities.

Register here.

For more information

To learn more about the upcoming workshop please contact Kyle Gray, Manager, Programs and Engagement, Throwe Environmental, LLC, at Kyle@throwe-environmental.com.

